

For Wilma
By Aha Blume

As we gathered to celebrate your life with high tea and treats

I felt your presence there
The little flying insect stopped on my finger to say hello

I knew it was you saying good bye
and being glad we were all there to honour you.